

FROM WASHINGTON.

(Special Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 1, 1890.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Senate District of Columbia committee has reported against a bridge across the Eastern Branch at Georgetown, the House District of Columbia committee has reported in favor of such a bridge, and say it should be built for the following reasons: It is necessary for the accommodation of the city and adjacent part of Maryland, it is necessary for sanitary purposes, it furnishes a direct road to the fortifications of Washington, it furnishes the only proper outlet for garbage south of the city, and it will improve the marshes and flats and make the southern part of the city more attractive and more healthful.

The committee appointed by the southern republican caucus of the House to urge the republican members of the Senate finance committee to reduce the tax on tobacco to 4 cents a pound have had several interviews with individual republican members of that committee, but have not yet been able to address them collectively. They have not as yet received much satisfaction, and Mr. Aldrich has given them to understand that he doesn't think their request can be granted, as an 8 cents tobacco tax will be required to limit the expected deficit to next year's revenue. Mr. Wadsworth says unless the request be granted some republican members of the House will be disposed to vote against the tariff bill upon the ground that it is better to have no bill at all than one that will be a source of trouble.

Senators Hawley, Manderson and Blair deny the generally credited report that the republican Senators have practically abandoned their efforts to pass the Force bill at this session, and say that if such a determination be reached hereafter it will be in consequence of some reason not yet developed. The latter introduced a resolution in the Senate to-day to apply the gag law to the prosecution of that body, though he alone consumed two weeks in a speech on his vain hobby, the educational bill. But the fact that he introduced the resolution referred to is a pretty good ground for believing that it will be defeated, as hardly any thing that he advocates succeeds.

Mr. Blair Allen, a northern republican of Richmond, who says the people of that city support the republican vote there, yesterday bought about twenty small houses in the southeastern part of that city with the money he had made in Richmond. Intelligence from Virginia is to the effect that all the democratic congressional delegation from that State will be renominated, and that Mr. Wise, whose seat was given to Mr. Wadsworth, will also be renominated. Of the republican delegation, Mr. Browne seems to be confident of renomination, Mr. B. W. Allen says he will be if he chooses, and Mr. Wadsworth says he doesn't want to come back.

Chairman Rowell, of the House elections committee, says he intends to call up the Langston-Venable contested election case as soon as the sundry civil bill is completed. Mr. Speaker Reed says he will assist him to the extent of his power, but that the democrats are intent upon delaying it, and that it is so difficult to get a quorum now he doesn't know whether Mr. Rowell will succeed or not. Langston has been advised by some of his friends to let his case go over until the next session so as to avoid prota-bile defeat at this one.

The republicans are all at sea on the tariff bill. It is said that Mr. Blaine's republican friends in the House number at least thirty, that they will insist upon his receding amendment to the bill, and that with the solid support of the democrats, which they will receive, will be able to adopt it, and if the Senate shall not agree to it, put the onus of the defeat of the bill upon that body.

The House District of Columbia committee to-day agreed to report favorably the bill chartering the Washington and Arlington Railroad Company, the incorporators of which are Mr. C. W. Lee, of Alexandria, and Messrs. J. S. Lawrence, Beriah Wilkins, D. C. Forney, A. H. Randall and J. L. Barbour of this city. This company will cross the Potomac on its own bridge, to be built at or near the "Three Sisters," and it is their intention to produce their road to Alexandria.

The republican members of the House elections committee were very anxious to adopt the report of their subcommittee in the Breckinridge case to-day, as they were on Tuesday last, but were again disappointed, as the democratic members, with the exception of one, to watch proceedings, staid away, and not enough republican members were present to make a quorum. The report deprives Mr. Breckinridge of his 816 majority and gives a 25 majority against him. The chairman of the committee has sent telegrams to all the absent republican members of the committee commanding them to return by Tuesday, the next meeting day.

The following changes in the 4th class post-offices of Virginia were made to-day: Blue Grass, Russell county, Mary F. Fletcher, appointed postmaster, vice W. H. Yost, resigned; Dinwiddie C. H., Dinwiddie county, Edna Eitenborough, vice W. Eitenborough, deceased; Willis, Cumberland county, W. J. Keller, vice J. E. Williams, resigned.

The famous petition for the retrocession of Alexandria to the District of Columbia still lies on the table of the Senate District committee, and has not yet been referred to a subcommittee or even been brought to the attention of the committee.

The government to-day defaulted in the payment of the semi-annual interest on the 3.65 District of Columbia bonds. It was compelled to do so by reason of the absence of the President who could not, therefore, sign the District appropriation bill.

Messrs. Cleveland and Hill will each have a candidate in the field for the Governorship of New York, and whoever succeeds in getting in his man will, it is considered, win the battle of the Presidential nomination.

Bar silver advanced yesterday to the highest point yet reached.

The State convention to be held in Mississippi soon was called for the purpose of framing a political constitution that will render the negro supremacy in the State possible under any circumstances. Several plans will be brought before the convention, such as limiting the suffrage to persons who can read and write, to those who pay a poll tax, a system of cumulative voting, based on property, and a reapportionment of the State that will give the white counties a preponderance in the elections. It has also been suggested that the legislature elect State officers.

The Force Bill Goes Over.

A dispatch from Washington to the New York Star says:

"I am enabled to state on authority that all efforts to press the Force bill to a vote during the present session have tonight been abandoned by consent on both sides. The Kentucky Senators, Carlisle and Blackburn, and the gallant Marylander, Gorman, have been chiefly instrumental in bringing about this result. It is accomplished because Mr. Hoar to go off to Massachusetts in a huff, and using a nearer approach to 'cuss' words than has been heard from Massachusetts Senators since the days of Daniel Webster. The details of the struggle cannot at present be made public. It is a true story, not a surrender. Hostilities are simply suspended till Congress reconvenes after the elections next winter."

COL. RUFFIN ON THE NORTH.—In a recent interview with a correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, Col. F. G. Ruffin, Second Auditor of Virginia, said:

"At this time our relations with England are unsettled. For my part I am free to say that if the spirit of the 'force' bill actuates the people of the North, as I believe it does, then they are more our enemies than any foreign nation, and I should sympathize with any European power that would make war upon this government. When the republicans make war on my people by putting tamed savages over the heads of civilized white men—for that is what the negro of to-day is—then I become their enemy. They thereby proclaim a policy which no foreign nation has ever avowed, and I should not care, in case of invasion by Great Britain, to see the British navy sink every war vessel belonging to the United States, destroy every city on the Atlantic coast and shell every habitation on the lakes from Duluth to Buffalo. When the republicans seek the ruin of my country, the South, I wish all the harm to their country that can possibly befall it."

In Memoriam.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 22, 1890.
To the officers and members of Tidewater Lodge No. 754.

Brothers and Sisters—We, your committee appointed to draft suitable resolutions of respect in regard to the death of our beloved brother, JULIAN A. MOORE, P. C. T., would most respectfully submit the following:

Whereas, The Supreme Ruler of the Universe has seen fit in His all-wise Providence to remove from our midst, by death, our beloved Brother JULIAN A. MOORE, P. C. T.,

Whereas, Death in his relentless march spurs neither infancy in his helplessness, manhood in its might, nor age in its feebleness. All yield alike before the fierce monster of the glass and scythe. Can a man die of one rather than another excite within our hearts feelings of supreme emotion, it is to see a young man of nobility of nature, of correct morals, of exemplary habits, (which are eminently worthy of emulation by every young man) cut down just as he had fully equipped himself for the honorable conduct of life. Just such a man was our deceased brother, a loving and dutiful son and brother, a useful citizen, a fast and true friend, and a most potent factor for good in the community in which he lived and died.

Resolved, That by the death of Bro. Moore this lodge has sustained a great loss, as he was one of the charter members of our organization, and in his infancy, by his counsel carefully watched over and protected his character and upheld its principles to the community.

Resolved, That the tenderest sympathies of this lodge are hereby tendered to his parents and brothers in this their sad bereavement.

Resolved, That the charter and jewels of this lodge be draped in mourning for the period of 30 days, and a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved parents of our deceased brother, and that a page in our minute book be set apart to be suitably inscribed to his memory, and that they be also sent to the ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE and Good Templars Register for publication. Respectfully submitted in F. H. & C. E. L. C. (C. K. L.).

F. P. TAYLOR, H. A. CRUMP, Committee.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 1.

SENATE.

The Senate met at 10 a. m., and roll call showed that there were 47 Senators in attendance.

Mr. Edmunds moved to amend and correct the journal by making it state the names of the 32 Senators who were present yesterday morning when the roll was first called.

Mr. Sherman asked whether that had been the custom heretofore.

The presiding officer (Mr. Ingalls) replied that it had not been.

Mr. Sherman doubted very much that the change ought to be made. If it were made he would insist on having it applied to all the calls of the Senate, of which there were half a dozen yesterday. But such a rule would only encumber the journal.

Mr. Dawes said that he was not present when the roll was called yesterday morning, but he was in the Capitol engaged in the business of a conference committee. Whatever criticism justly attached to his absence, under those circumstances, he was willing to take.

Mr. Edmunds defended the motion and said that he had not supposed it would offend the sensibilities of anyone.

Mr. Dawes, in a tone of irony, congratulated the country that those Senators who had been so anxious to insist upon an early meeting of the Senate had found method for the useful employment of the time thus gained.

Mr. Edmunds' motion was rejected.

Mr. Blair offered a resolution instructing the committee on rules to report, within four days, a rule for the incorporation of the previous question or some method of limiting and closing debate in the parliamentary procedure of the Senate, and asked for its immediate consideration. Objection was made on the democratic side and the resolution went over till to-morrow.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the tariff bill.

Mr. Vest expressed himself in favor of reducing all the duties on lead. The largest lead mine in his State had declared last year dividends amounting to 20 per cent., but the wages of the employees had not been increased one cent. So that the claim that high protective duties were for the benefit of the workman was a fraud and cheat from the beginning.

Mr. Morgan spoke of the "tap" which the republicans had placed on the surplus, drawing it all off, and making it inevitable that the government would be a borrower before the end of another year. A jocular allusion having been made by Mr. Edmunds to the Farmers' Alliance, Mr. Morgan said that he would be no proper representative of his State if he left the alliance out of consideration, inasmuch as 90 per cent. of the white farmers of Alabama were alliance men. The could not run him off from supporting their true and honest interest. They might not even recognize him as their friend, as the negroes of the South certainly did not; and yet, there was not a man in the Senate who would fight harder for alliance men, and for negroes, than he would. If for a moment they did not feel that the ties of friendship bound him to them, that was no reason why he should desert them, and he did not intend to do it.

Mr. Aldrich asked unanimous consent that in regard to the remaining paragraphs in the chemical schedule, about 20 in number and none of them specially important, debate shall proceed under the five minute rule.

Mr. McPherson objected.

An amendment offered to the next paragraph by Mr. Vest led to a sharp personal controversy between Mr. Vest and Mr. Dawes—the latter finding fault with the former for calling in question the veracity of a Philadelphia firm of manufacturing chemists (Powers & Weightman) on the subject of guanine.

Mr. Vest declared that he would not receive a lecture from the Senator from Massachusetts, who had, by inheritance and mole of life, assumed a right to lecture others. Mr. Dawes denied that he had ever assumed a right to lecture anybody nor had he ever shrunk from the duty of defending any honorable man who was unjustly assailed.

Mr. Vest said that he had had reference to what he considered the tendency of Mr. Dawes's people to assume a morality, an intelligence, and a standing higher than that of anybody else.

HOUSE.

The House resumed the consideration of the Senate amendments to the sundry civil appropriation bill.

The question being on not-concurring in the Senate amendment appropriating $50,000 for a lighthouse near Maryland Point, Potomac river, there was a sharp spat between the Speaker and Mr. Rogers, of Arkansas.

From Buenos Ayres.

LONDON, August 1.—A dispatch from Buenos Ayres states that President Celman has issued a manifesto to the people of the Argentine Republic. After speaking of the demand for his resignation the President refers to the property and liberty the country enjoys under his rule. He ignores the gravity, and what his own journal terms "the horrors" of the recent events in Buenos Ayres. The manifesto attributes the sole cause of the insurrection to the insensate ambition of the local party in Buenos Ayres.

Celman's own party, the dispatch says, is highest at the President's callousness and his incomprehensible and vain ignorance of the real gravity of the situation. The manifesto concludes with an expression of eternal gratitude to his supporters.

Gored by a Bull.

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 1.—Frederick Sheer, fer, a farmer, living near town, had a terrible experience with a bull yesterday. While watching his cows graze the bull attacked him. He endeavored to beat him off with a stick, but the stick broke, and he was at the bull's mercy. The bull stamped, pawed and rolled him about the field. The cows came to his rescue and gored the bull, compelling him to let go his victim. While the bull was engaged in battle with the cows Mr. Sheer ran to the creek adjoining his farm. The bull followed him until he was in water up to his neck, when it was chased away by Mr. Sheer's sons, and he was rescued. Three ribs were broken, and he is injured internally.

The Blair Resolution.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 1.—Senator Blair, in speaking of his resolution introduced this morning, instructing the committee on rules to report a rule to limit debate by the operation of the previous question or some other method, said that he believed it to be the opinion of a majority of the republican Senators that the time had arrived for the adoption of a rule by which debate might be controlled. He would not admit, however, that he was acting by direction of the caucus. He was not, he said, the St. Peter of that body, by whom what was bound in the caucus should be bound in the Senate and what was loosed in the caucus should be loosed in the Senate.

The Central American War.

A dispatch from La Libertad says: It is reported that Gen. Rivas, who was recently recalled from Honduras by the Salvador government to raise troops around Cajuapateque, and join the main army operating against Guatemala on the frontier, turned traitor after having had a handsome reception in the capital. When he was supposed to be on his way to the frontier he turned back his forces of 2,000 Indians toward the capital and stormed the barracks. There fighting has been going on two days, but no details have been received, as communication has been interrupted since. General Rivas started the revolution against the Menendez government some months ago, but was defeated. He then fled to Honduras.

Senor Geronimo Poni, special envoy at Mexico from San Salvador, says it is doubtful if there has been any fighting in San Salvador.

Dr. Fernando Cruz, Guatemalan minister to the United States, denies that he has been recalled.

V. M. I. PROFESSORS ELECTED.—The board of visitors of the Virginia Military Institute met in Lynchburg yesterday to fill the vacancies in the faculty of that institution. The following gentlemen were elected: Thos. R. Marshall, commandant of corps, to fill vacancy occasioned by the promotion of Gen. Scott Ship; Prof. F. H. Smith, chair of mathematics, occasioned by the resignation of Col. M. B. Harding; Prof. Hunter Pendleton, of Virginia, A. M. and P. M. D., of Göttingen, chair of chemistry, mineralogy and geology, to succeed Colonel Lyell, resigned, and Professor R. A. Marr, chair of engineering, vice Colonel Patton, resigned.

At the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors of Fairfax county committees were appointed to advertise and receive proposals for building bridges over Potomac creek near Burke's Station; over Potomac run near Mutersbaugh, and over Long Branch near Bailey's roads.
